LORD HALDANE AND CANADA.

THE GREAT SEAL TO BE PLACED IN COMMISSION.

In "The Times" of February 22 it was announced that the Lord Chancellor, with the approval of the King, had accepted the invitation of the American Bar Association to be its guest and to deliver the annual address at the meeting of the association to be opened at Montreal on September 1. There has been much speculation as to what course would be adopted in regard to the custody of the Great Seal on this occasion. It has now been decided that the Great Seal shall be placed in commission during the Chancellor's absence, which will last only just over a fortnight. Lord Haldane will leave England for New York on August 23, in the Lusitania. He will deliver his address in Montreal on Monday, September 1, at 3 o'clock, and will leave New York again on September 3, arriving in England on September 5. This is believed to be the first occasion since the days of Henry VIII. on which a Lord Chancellor has left the country on a public mission. The last Chancellor to do so was Cardinal Wolsey, who was sent on a mission to France in being resolved that England should place herself at the head of a league to check the ambition of the Emperor.

BLIND 50 YEARS. NOW SEES.

Despatches from Chicago describe the restoration of sight yesterday as the result of an operation, to Mrs. Mary Walsh, of Ellendale, Mich., after she had suffered from total blindness for half a century. Mrs. Walsh, now sixty-six years of age, was blinded when she lost her sight. The development of double cataract doomed her to a life of darkness.

She married at the age of twenty-two but never saw her husband, who died several years ago. Mrs. Walsh had eight children, six of whom are now living, and yesterday the mother for the first time looked upon their faces.—Daily Telegraph.

THE MOTLEY MILITANTS.

MRS. PANKHURST.

The following bulletin was issued from Mrs. Pankhurst's flat in Great Smith-street, Westminster, at midday recently:—"Mrs. Pankhurst arrived in a very serious condition last night. She was immediately seen by several eminent doctors, all of whom took a serious view of her condition. In view of her extreme weakness and inaction it was considered necessary to resort to transfusion."

On Monday Mrs. Pankhurst appeared at the weekly meeting of the W.S.P.U. at the London Pavilion. She looked very ill and was wheeled on to the stage in a bath chair. Lying back in the chair she made a speech in which she said the long conspiracy was breaking up against their movement, and those of them who had been in touch with the movement knew that the talk of public opinion in the Press had been manufactured by the worst element of the population—an element that would not be there if women counted, because it never would be born. They had always pitied the hoodlums in the population, because their existence was due to evil conditions and bad laws.

After medicine had been administered to her Mrs. Pankhurst went on to say she meant to be there next Monday. They had the reserve fund which the Press had talked about, but they wanted to pay current expenses out of current contributions.

At the end of her speech Mrs. Pankhurst was wheeled off the stage and drove away in a motor-car as she had arrived.

Mrs. Pankhurst's licence was then put up for auction, and was eventually sold for £100.

Miss Kenney was re-arrested as she was leaving the building. The plain clothes officers who made the arrest were violently set upon by a bodyguard of women, assisted by a number of men, but the police were too powerful to be beaten off.

At Bow-street Police Court at the end of last month Mr. George Lansbury, ex-M.P. for Bow appeared before Sir John Dickinson in pursuance of his recognizance entered into on giving notice of appeal, from the decision of the magistrate ordering him to find sureties to keep the peace.

In answer to the Magistrate, the defendant said he was not prepared to find the required sureties, and in default he was ordered to be imprisoned for three months.

"THE DOMINION HOUSE."

Lord Grey has informed the London County Council that strong exception is taken to the stipulation that the site of the proposed Dominion House shall only be leased for 99 years. Having considered all the circumstances, the Council accepted the recommendation of the Improvement Committee to grant an option for the purchase of the island site at the price of £1,300,000. A company has been formed to take up the option agreement. The conveyance will only be made to the official representatives in England of some Dominion, Colony, State, or Dependency of the British Empire.

COLOSSAL BRONZE STATUE OF KITCHENER.

Viscount Kitchener visited Farnborough (Kent) recently to inspect the completed statue of himself executed by Mr. Sydney March. It is a colossal work in bronze, showing Lord Kitchener in full uniform holding his Field-Marshal's baton and riding his favourite horse Demos. The statue, which will shortly be shipped to Calcutta, has been cast from old cannon sent over from India, and has taken nearly two years to make, the cost (£5,333) being borne by public subscription, "as a mark of the esteem of the people of India."

MR. WILLIAM REDMOND'S RECOLLECTIONS.

"Fourth" Party only Mr. Balfour remains. The front bench below the gangway which he occupied with his brilliant lieutenants, Randolph Churchill, Gresham, and Drummond Wolf, is now in the possession of Lord Hugh Cecil, Lord Castlereagh, Lord Halmsey, and Mr. Worthington-Evans, who form but a poor substitute for the "Fourth" Party of other days which won for itself such renown in Parliamentary history.

MASTERS OF ELOQUENCE.

John Bright was then a commanding figure in the House. His eloquence will never be forgotten by those who heard it. He did not see eye to eye with the Irish members on the question of Home Rule, but he will always be remembered, in Ireland as a great friend of the Irish cause, and in England as the policy of land purchase now approved for Ireland by both parties in the State. Were I asked who was the most eloquent speaker in the House in my time I should say that man was Joseph Cowen, of Newcastle. His speeches were marvels of genuine and moving eloquence. He kept the House spell-bound, and his sincerity was such that he impressed friend and foe alike. One of the earliest members to show marked Parliamentary ability in the 80th Parliament was Sir Charles Dillke.

Randolph Churchill's brief but brilliant Parliamentary career will never be forgotten by those who were his followers. His early death was deeply lamented by his opponents as well as by his friends, for apart from political feeling, his engaging personal qualities appealed to everyone. Of the earliest British friends of Home Rule in the House the greatest still happily remains in the person of the present Father of the House, Mr. Thomas Burt, or, as he used to be called even thirty years ago, "Tom Burt."

His alone of members now living voted in favour of the principle of Home Rule as long ago as 1874, when the question was brought forward by Isaac Butt, then the trusted leader of the Irish Home Rule Party. And in this connection it is of interest to remember that as long ago as 74, ten years before the franchise was extended, a majority of the members from Ireland urgently demanded the restoration of the Irish Parliament. For forty years at least Home Rule has been consistently demanded in Parliament by the Irish people, and this fact could not but be remembered as one listened to the cheers with which the majority of 100 for the Home Rule Bill was greeted in the House the other day.

GRAND NAMES STILL REPRESENTED.

There is one thing noticeable in the present House, and it is that if the great figures of the old days have passed away, their names are still perpetuated in the Chamber. There are still with us the Gladstones, the Harcourts, the Churchills, the Chamberlains, the Adeades, the Trevellyans, the Lawsons, and many others. I remember well the maiden speech of Mr. Austen Chamberlain, when the Grand Old Man, turning to Joseph Chamberlain, declared that the young man's speech was "dear and refreshing" to a father's heart.

How "dear and refreshing" would it be to the heart of Gladstone himself could he but hear in the debates of today the grave and weighty and most able speeches delivered sometimes by his own grandson, the present William Gladstone! And if only Randolph Churchill could have heard one of Winston's slashing denunciations! There is, after all, some consolation, for one who recalls the years that have gone, in a somewhat lonely spirit, in remembering that as the old generation falls away the younger men step to the front and preserve in their persons the great traditions of the past.

The other night, when the House was unhappily not crowded, a quiet figure arose and delivered a speech full of wit and kindly feeling. It was Sir Wilfrid Lawson. Here again, the tradition of the past was maintained, for who can ever forget the genial and witty and wise utterances of old Sir Wilfrid? All the old members, at any rate, felt a glow of real pleasure as they listened to his son.

CURE FOR ASTHMA

It seemed as though the years had rolled back. If the personnel of the House has changed in thirty years, so, too, indeed, have the rules of procedure. In the early eighties the closure had only just been introduced for the first time. The "Kangaroo" was unknown. If a member was unattended while the answer he received to his question he could move the adjournment, and I have known "question" time resumed after an adjournment debate, at twelve o'clock at night. Those were great days for the private member! With new rules, new orders, and new men, the House has changed indeed in thirty years.

Two things I remember. Looking back over the long period since July 16, 1883, when I first entered the House, I felt as I listened to the cheers greeting the third reading of the Home Rule Bill that two things and two things alone were the same—the voice of Big Ben as it sounded the hours and the voice of Ireland as she demanded Home Rule!

One more memory of the past and I have done. In 1883 the Budget of the nation was £85,000,000, and of this £22,000,000 was spent upon the Army and Navy together. Things have changed since then, when today we spend upon armaments nearly as much as the whole Budget of thirty years ago! And while in 1883 I remember well the economists of that time thought the money spent on warlike preparations beyond all reason and requirement! Truly the changes of thirty years are wonderful, and, perhaps, more wonderful in affairs political and Parliamentary than in any other direction.

In one way at least the change I have myself observed in Parliament has been wholly happy. Thirty years ago the attitude of Irishmen in the House was bitter in the extreme. This was the result of many wrongs. Thirty years have seen the grievances of Ireland removed one by one, and today each of the representatives of Ireland in the face of the outstretched hand of friendship from Great Britain no longer bitter, but ready and willing on the basis of the Home Rule Bill to enter the future on terms of friendship and goodwill for all time with the people of England, Scotland, and Wales, and the whole Empire. That is one of the great changes of the past thirty years, and surely not one of the least blessed.

PRINCE PALATINE SOLD.

"RECORD" PRICE OF £45,000.

Mr. Thomas Pilkington has sold his famous horse Prince Palatine to Mr. J. B. Joel. The horse, however, is not to be handed over until after the race for the Jockey Club Stakes at the Newmarket First October Meeting has been decided, and it is understood that one of the conditions of the sale is that Prince Palatine is not to leave the country.

The price to be paid by Mr. Joel is, we are informed, £45,000, and the horse is ten in one of his engagements, in which case the price will be £50,000 less. The highest price ever paid for a horse sold at public auction is the £37,500 guineas which Mr. Edmund Blane paid for Flying Fox in 1900.

Prince Palatine is a five-year-old bay horse by Perseus out of Lady Lightfoot. He was bred by Colonel Hall Walker, who sold him in the summer of 1909 to Mr. Pilkington for £20,000. Up to the present he has won £36,384 in stakes. Donovan won more money in stakes than any other horse in two years he won races to the value of £55,153.

THE TURF AND THE STATE

By John Gulland.

[SECRETARY, MANCHESTER AND DISTRICT BRANCH, NATIONAL ANTI-GAMBLING LEAGUE.]

Is there any sort of recognition, on the part of the public, of the rights of the public? This simple question, thrown out by Mr. Justice Darling in the midst of a discussion between owners, trainers, jockeys, and critics on the ethics of running horses, must have occurred to many after wading through the welter of charges and counter-charges, suspicions and innuendoes, which made up the evidence in the amazing case which has just ended.

"When you run horses, do you do so for your own pleasure, or is it recognized that the public ought to be informed, and that they have some kind of right to know how they are likely to run?" was another question, and promptly came the reply from an owner of racehorses: "Of course not." This reply ought to set at rest many anxieties; for a not inconsiderable portion of the population of these islands have long held a rooted belief that owners of racehorses are a species of benevolent philanthropists, whose mission in life it is to provide the means by which their less fortunate brethren may make easy money with little effort. If it had done nothing else but dispel this pretty illusion, the great Turf libel case will have earned its right to a place in the scheme of things.

A COMMERCIAL INSTITUTION.

The English Turf is a very ancient institution, with very honorable traditions. Oliver Cromwell had his stud of racers. In many individual cases these traditions are still highly cherished, but it is quite plain now that the modern Turf is a frankly commercial institution. Throughout this long drawn out trial there was one witness ever present—money—and ever talking.

A horse race would appear to be not so much a strenuous contest between the quadrupeds themselves as a battle of wits between those who control them. Discussions on "foul riding," "pulling" horses, running unfit horses or "fairly" fit, as one witness quaintly put it, deceiving handicappers, juggling with bets, or "commissions" as they are more politely termed, all fell trippingly from the tongue as if they were part of the day's familiar work and conversation.

"Do you think it a sportsmanlike and a proper thing from a racing point of view to run a horse that is unfit?" was the gist of a question; and "Of course, you do sometimes get your horse fit eventually. It is done every day," was the gist of an answer. If this is the practice of the Turf, it can only be described as an amazing one in view of the vast sums of money that may be involved in even the palest of races. And what of the position of the small "punter" who, in his hundreds and thousands, is after all one of the main financial "stays of the Turf"? He may often be seen in trains going to and from races, poring over "Books of Form," "Form in a Nutshell," and all the other weekly, monthly, half-yearly, and yearly compilations which make up the racer's Bazaar. For any practical use they are, it would appear that they might as well be made a bonfire of. What guarantee is there now that the horse was "fit" last time it was not?

THE CASUALTY.

Here also is another fine point in casuistry which was not raised in trial of the action, but which occurs to one from a perusal of the "Rules on Betting" as drawn up by Tattersall's Committee. Rule 2 says that "in all bets there must be a possibility to win when the bet was made." It is obvious that if a horse is entered under a name which is not the "possibility" of winning within the meaning of the section, and therefore the bet is void. While on the subject of betting, it may be interesting to "backers" to know that it is called to know that "trainers seldom bet in their own names," according to one witness, and generally bet away from the course of starting prices, thus effectively concealing the intentions of the stable from the public.

It is obvious to anyone who gives the subject one minute's consideration, that as long as the Turf is conducted on the present lines incidents of the nature revealed in this case are inevitable. Betting is an expensive hobby. It was stated in this case that the training fees of one horse were £2 10s. per week. With jockeys' fees, expenses of travelling, entrance fees for a reasonable number of races, a racehorse cannot cost much under £300 a year. A string of 10 horses would thus cost £3,000 per annum, and 20 horses £6,000. There were not a few owners last year who won over £20,000 in stake money. It costs on the average £5 to win £1 of stake money. As there are few men on the Turf who can afford this, the balance has to be made up by betting. That is to say, the owner must run his horses to suit his pocket and not the pockets of the great British public. And he does it. Thus, as reported in this case, one horse ran six times in one year, unplaced and unbacked. Next year it ran twice, unplaced and unbacked, and then next year it won £3,000 in stake and £2,740 in bets.

THE CAPTAIN SCOTT FUND.

The Lord Mayor has received from Messrs. Speyer Brothers the sum of £20,414 11s. 6d. for the Captain Scott Fund, being the amount collected in response to the appeal of the British Antarctic Expedition Committee of which Sir Edgar Speyer was the treasurer. That sum includes £6,015 raised by the Daily Chronicle, £1,543 at Manchester, £1,379 at Melbourne, £254 at Liverpool, and £160 by the Adelaide Register.

The Government announces to Lady Scott and the other relatives, dating from March, will be payable on the passing of the Appropriation Act—probably in a fortnight. The annuities are provided by an annual charge on the Superannuation Bill.

A Natural Remedy

Time was when disease was thought to be due to the direct influence of evil spirits, and exorcism and magic were invoked to cast it out.

Science has taught us wisdom. The evil spirits exist still. We call them "Disease Germs," and they also must be cast out. Once lodged in the stomach or intestines, fever with its hallucinations, or biliousness with its aches and pains, is the result.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT

is the approved remedy for driving out disease germs. Its action is quick and thorough. It clears the intestines, rouses the torpid liver to new life, stimulates the mucous membrane to a healthy action, and cleanses and invigorates the whole digestive tract.

It may be safely taken at any time by young or old.

It is very effective in the early stage of Diarrhoea by removing the irritating cause.

Be prepared for emergencies by always keeping a bottle in the house.

ber will have grown to fully 6,000 after all the main contracts have been well advanced. 10,000 men will be employed before the close of the year. There will be no periods of congestion in the work and, on the other hand, there will be no comparatively slack periods.

Twenty-seven nations have officially accepted the formal invitation of the United States, conveyed through the Department of State, to participate in the exposition. It is anticipated that every country in the world having commerce to be importantly affected by the opening of the Panama Canal will take part. Japan alone has appropriated $500,000 for its participation. The representation of the commonwealths of the United States assures the most representative friendly gathering in the history of the American people. Thirty-five states and territories have already selected sites for their state and territorial pavilions, as follows: Arizona, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, the Philippines, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Wyoming, Porto Rico, Wisconsin. Among the state and territorial appropriations already made are: New York, $700,000; Pennsylvania, $450,000; Massachusetts, $250,000; Illinois, $300,000; the Philippines, $250,000; Hawaii, $100,000; Idaho, $100,000; Missouri, $100,000; Nevada, $100,000; New Jersey, $200,000; Oregon, $175,000; Washington, $175,000; Indiana, $90,000; Wisconsin and West Virginia, $75,000 each. In addition to the large sums subscribed by states and territories, and subscriptions of the manufacturing and producing interests of the United States, which will be represented upon a vast scale, will reach many millions. Applications for exhibit space are unprecedented in the history of expositions. These applications tax the capacity of the vast exhibit palaces and permit the selection of the finest products of the arts and industries. Many of the exhibits will range in value from $250,000 to $35,000. Some of the largest manufacturers of the world will be represented.

Six thousand applications for concessions and amusement privileges have been received by the Director of Concessions. Seventy-five of the concessions granted represent an outlay of $3,800,000. The total investment in the installation of concessions will be, it is estimated, between $11,000,000 and $11,500,000. Seven thousand persons will be employed in this district during the exposition period. Many of the concessions will be shown for the first time. The Santa Fe Railway will expend $350,000 upon a concession in which the Grand Canyon of Arizona will be shown. A squad of artists and modelers is now in the canyon. A working model of the Panama Canal, with a capacity of handling 2,000 people every twenty minutes, will cost $250,000; a reproduction of the historic market place at Nuremberg, Germany, $225,000; a reproduction of the Trionno at Versailles, $225,000; the canvases for this production are reproduced from those in the Versailles gallery at Paris.

Based upon a review of department, the Comptroller of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition estimates that its initial cost will exceed eighty millions of dollars, exclusive of the intrinsic wealth represented in the exhibits and the amount represented in the displays will far exceed the cost of construction. It will require more than sixty million feet of lumber for the main exhibit palaces; more than fifteen million feet are already on the grounds and this amount is being added to daily, so that there will be no delay due to non-receipt of material at this time. Further to facilitate the work, standard gauge railway trucks are being laid along the north side of central group of main buildings; these will connect with the exposition freight ferry slips at the northeast end of the site. It is estimated that within thirty days freight will be conveyed by means of this slip and the standard gauge railway to points along the central main group of buildings and beyond.

THE PANAMA CANAL EXPOSITION.

Eighteen months before its opening on February 20, 1915, the Panama-Pacific International Exposition overshadows any commemorative and instructive exposition in history. Progress in all departments that complete the organization of the exposition has reached a stage of development exceeding that of any of the great American expositions at a date so far in advance of their formal opening. The complete success of the exposition is a universal celebration is assured. Construction work is far in advance of the definite schedule and the promise of the management that the exposition will open its gates upon a completed spectacle is meeting with realization. Ten main exhibit palaces are under contract for completion within definite time limits and one exposition building is finished and occupied. The exposition palaces under construction are: Machinery, Education, Liberal Arts, Manufactures, Varied Industries, Mines and Metallurgy, Transportation, Agriculture, Food Products, Fine Arts. Work on the Palace of Horticulture will soon begin. Plans are completed for the Festival Hall and bids are soon to be invited. In addition there are the Festival Hall, ferry building and fuel building, which will be constructed by the exposition company which will also construct the California Building. This building with its furnishings, will represent an estimated outlay of $500,000. In addition to all the work going on actively on the exposition grounds construction has begun on the permanent public auditorium to be built of steel and located in San Francisco's new civic centre, for which the exposition management has contributed $1,000,000. Progress on this building will keep step with the exhibit palaces. Nearly 3,000 men all told are now employed on the grounds of the exposition and by the latter part of this summer it is expected that this number

At breakfast time he was found apparently asleep in his room, and no attempt was made to rouse him, as nothing was suspected. As the day wore on and he did not awake, his servant informed the Hotel authorities, and he was removed to the Medical College Hospital, where he was pronounced to be suffering from poisoning. The Police have the matter in hand.

SEQUEL TO LONDONDERRY RIOTS.

STRANGE REVELATIONS AT AN INQUEST.

The inquest on the man named Armstrong, who was shot dead whilst looking out of his window during the Londonderry riots, evoked strange revelations, the relations of the deceased man declaring that he was shot by the police. An ex-Constabulary Sergeant deposed that he told the police that a man was shot, and a policeman shouted "You may be glad you are not shot yourself."

Four further witnesses, including a policeman, have testified to the Police firing in the neighbourhood of Armstrong's house.

THE CHESTERFIELD ELECTION.

PRESS COMMENT.

London, Aug. 22. The Unionist comment on the Chesterfield election is generally epitomized by the Standard, which says that the miners have struck the Labour Party a staggering blow by returning Mr. Kenyon, who was disowned by the Party. The contest has left a legacy of bitterness and division in the Labour ranks that may have disastrous results. The official party view is that it means the beginning of the end of the Liberal-Labour alliance.

The Morning Post, however, admits that the result leaves much to be desired from the Unionist standpoint. The Daily News says: "The importance of the Opposition attached to the Chesterfield election justifies the Liberals in regarding the result as renewed instruction to the Government to persist in the path of Liberalism."

The Daily Chronicle comments: "Mr. Scurr, an imported outsider, was not backed by the astute Labour body, and he was not the man to split the Progressive vote."

THE BALKANS.

A CRITICAL SITUATION.

London, Aug. 22. People Turkish official assurances, the Turco-Bulgarian situation is causing grave anxiety.

It is stated that the Porte is seriously considering a declaration of war and a rapid advance on Philippopolis in order to enforce Bulgaria's assent to the Turkish retention of Adrianople.

It is believed that a Military Caucus, headed by Enver Bey, is largely influencing and overbearing more prudent counsels.

Simultaneously, there are renewed reports of impending Russian intervention to enforce the observance of the Treaty of London, and it is even inferred in some quarters, from recent movements of Russian warships in the Black Sea, and a certain dislocation of local steamship service, that some action, possibly the disembarkation of troops, has already been taken.

THE POWERS AND TURKEY.

The Neue Freie Presse (Vienna) says that the Powers are consulting regarding a collective step at Constantinople. It is proposed that the Austrian Ambassador, as doyen, should call on the Porte to withdraw to the Enos-Midia line under a threat of financial starvation.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

It is stated that Turkey has given Russia further assurances regarding the occupation of Trans-Mediterranean points, which are regarded in St. Petersburg as satisfactory. While Russia will not tolerate an advance beyond Maritza she is prepared to exercise patience regarding Adrianople, and to await the effect of the proposed boycott, as the payment of officials is already many months in arrears.

THE CHINESE REBELLION.

EX-VICEROY SHUM OUTLAWED.

(Wak Tai Yat Po's Serfices.)

PEKING, Aug. 22.

A Presidential mandate issued last evening says that Shum Chun Hsuen resigned the directorship of the Canton-Hankow Railway and returned to Shanghai to recuperate. Quite unexpectedly he telegraphed to Luk Wing Ting, Governor-General of Kwangsi, and to Lung Chi Kwong, Tutub of Canton, inviting them to co-operate with Kwangtung, Hunan, Kiangsi and other provinces in a rebellion. Fortunately, Luk Wing Ting and Lung Chi Kwong, understanding the situation, declined Shum's invitation. The President believed that while Shum enjoyed a vain reputation, he would not attempt to stir up a revolution, but he was probably misled by rebels. Now that he has actually conspired with Hsuen Hsing and others, Shum Chun Hsuen is ordered to be arrested and deported. Other presidential orders appoint Chow Tzu Chi and Tung Hsien respectively president and vice-president of the Bank of China.

AN UNFAVOURABLE REPLY.

London, Aug. 22. The Parliamentary deposition which recently waited upon the Chancellor of the Exchequer and made a request for financial assistance from the Government for the proposed British University for Central China, either by assigning a portion of the Boxer indemnity for the purpose, or otherwise, have received an unfavourable reply from Mr. Lloyd George.

It is uncertain whether this is final, but the scheme is not abandoned, though its supporters are none too sanguine of success.

THE MISSIONARY AND THE MAN OF THE WORLD.

(BY KIPIN.)

"I cannot let this series of expository essays proceed further without daring one to the supreme duty of the Church, which more prominently than any other consideration bids her close her ranks and agree to differ on things that come second. For Christians of all denominations who have any real appreciation of the meaning of their religion should today as never before. I do not pretend that all Church members have their eyes open. But this is not the place for an argument addressed to men and women who recognize Christian obligations when once they have realized that they exist. I want rather to put the missionary's case so that the general reader may understand that the salesman, if he can see far enough beyond the needs and perils of the moment, may well confess the Christian propaganda to be an insight with higher possibilities in the world's welfare than anything his own statecraft can do."

Let me take China as my concrete example and escape mere generalities. I suppose the future of China does sometimes cause searchings of heart to men of the world who would like their grandchildren to find life tolerable. Here is one nation, already numbering about one third of the human race, and prolific beyond rival. A ready it crowds its own vast territory almost past endurance, and must very soon be pushing out to find room to live. History is being made so fast in China that a paper like this written three or four days before publication, may very well be antiquated in some important statement before it reaches you.

The immortal past which has held that remarkable people in chains for ages, so that even the brute force of numbers could not make them strong, has suddenly lost its hold. China has shaken off her Emperor, and with him her god, whom she could approach ultimately through him. She is stretching out her hands to the West, asking Europe for salvation, for secrets of government, for all that Western civilization has to give. She will get the material gifts of Europe, quickly enough. She will learn Western science without difficulty and purchase or make Western instruments of destruction. Sir Hiram Maxim, who seems to be missionary through a whole gamut of denunciation, will divulge his secrets to her. She will have the yellow man on her side, and will go down to a grateful posterity, warranted mechanically to reduce the population as swiftly and mercilessly as the Tangle in flood. And all this because these secret, armed forces of untrained hordes of soldiers, and turn them loose on mankind, driven by sheer necessity to find new homes, what then? The handful of British colonists who occupy the continent of Ansohalla seem to ignore that they are the yellow man on her side, and will not thus waste their time and energy on their conscience. What will all their puny resistance avail when once the irresistible power of an awakened China is hurled upon them?

We venture to plead that the welfare of all mankind depends on hastening this great power. Armed with Western knowledge and the capacity for scientific destruction which is the evening discovery of Western materialism, impelled by selfishness untempered by the restraining influence which Europe has received from religion, even when least amenable to its spirit, China can only be brought to the principles of a religion which has civilized men wherever it has had a fair chance. China grows in the dark and throws herself on the sympathy and the prayers of Christendom. We are impelled to answer her entreaty, and teach her, better than our ancestors taught us, the laws of a faith which proclaims brotherhood and brotherly love, and declares that mankind will be happy when at last all men love their neighbor as themselves. Even the partial success that crowd the pages of history declare that this is no visionary purpose. Savage and cannibals have been civilized by the work of Christian missionaries under every flag. Has the materialist any rival method to plead? If he has, he should try to show. Meanwhile Christians will recognize in the fact a new enforcement of angelic command. The call of the Harcourt may fall on deaf ears outside the Church; the call of the visible and near future may impress the duller, wondering. And both also make foreign missions the most urgent necessity of the hour. — Manchester Guardian.

There goes a man who robbed me of a large fortune."

"He robbed you of a fortune, and still he is enjoying his liberty!"

"Not by a long way. He married the rich widow I was after."

"Wife? How does it happen that all these ladies are at your table?"

Husband: "Well, you know how short-sighted I am! I thought in each case it was you, and beckoned to them."

"Meggendorfer Blackbox."

A man, driven home on a wet night, wished to give the cab-driver something to keep the cold out. Finding nothing at hand but a liquor-stand with its tin glasses, he filled up one and handed it to John, remarking: "You'll think none the worse of this because it was made by the monks."

"Rise the monks!" exclaimed the driver, as he drained the glass. "It's themselves that can make good liquor; but the man that blew that glass was very short of breath." — Windsor.
